Morals, Ethics and Virtue in Buddhism (Part 2 of 2)

Sunday, October 15, 2017 • 1:00 – 3:00 p.m.
with Reverend Jon Turner

This class will continue to explore what we mean by "Right" when it is used in Buddhism. Is "Right" relative or absolute? Is it in opposition to "Wrong"? How does being "Right" relate to Buddhist practice? These issues are also closely related to the term "Truth." Perhaps if we knew how Buddhists determine "Truth" then we could also determine what is "Right." We will also compare and contrast Buddhist notions of morals, ethics and virtue with those of the Western Judeo-Christian philosophical tradition. (Prior attendance at part 1 of this class is not required for attending part 2.)
